

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the HRBRRD have each started their own beneficiary studies to determine who might be assessed to replace these funds. The Sacandaga Protection Committee has met with state and local elected officials on this issue, and in conjunction with their attorneys, Hodgson Russ, LLP, is monitoring the impact of these ongoing studies to protect the interests of upstream residents including permit holders